DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1, 4 – 12 and 14 – 27 are pending in this Office Action.
2. Applicant's request for the withdrawal of Claims Rejections under 35 U.S.C 112 is persuasive, Therefore, Claims Rejections under 35 U.S.C 112 is hereby withdrawn.

However, Applicant fails to remedy the issues of Claims Rejections under 35 U.S.C 101 raised during the interview with Mark D. Trenner on April 11, 2005.

Therefore, claims 1 and 12 are still non-statutory.

Response to Arguments/Remarks

3. Applicant argues:

(a) "There is not teaching of a user-specified remote storage device. Nor is there any teaching of accessing an electronic document at a user-specified remote storage device and sending the electronic document from multifunction device (page 9, paragraph 1).

(b) The cited references fail to teach or suggest at least "combining said documents in electronic format with said electronic document from said user-specified remote storage device". (Page 12, paragraph 5).

(c) Citations do not teach or suggest at least "identifying a remote storage device having a use-requested document based at least in part on a path for said remote storage device specified by a user at said configured multifunction device" (page 14, paragraph 2).

In response to argument (a): Examiner respectfully disagrees with the applicant.

Czyszczewski teaches a user-specified remote storage device as shown in column 3, lines 11 –20).

accessing an electronic document at a user-specified remote storage device (see column 3, lines 14 – 17) and sending the electronic document from multifunction device (see column 7, lines 19 – 23).

In response to argument (b): Examiner respectfully states that Czyszczevski teaches combining said documents in electronic format with said electronic document from said user-specified remote storage device as shown in column 6, lines 53 – 59 and column 10, lines 59 – 60).

In response to argument (c): Examiner respectfully states that Czyszczevski teaches identifying a remote storage device having a use-requested document based at least in part on a path for said remote storage device specified by a user at said configured multifunction device as shown in column 3, lines 11 – 17 and column 9, line 60 – column 10, line 3).

4. In view of the above, the examiner contends that all limitations as recited in the claims have been addressed in this Office Action. For the above reasons, Examiner believed that the rejection of the last Office Action was proper.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

5. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

MPEP 2106 IV.B.2.(b)

A claim that requires one or more acts to be performed defines a process. However, not all processes are statutory under 35 U.S.C. 101. Schrader, 22 F.3d at 296, 30 USPQ2d at 1460. To be statutory, a claimed computer-related process must either: (A) result in a physical transformation outside the computer for which a practical application in the technological arts is either disclosed in the specification or would have been known to a skilled artisan, or (B) be limited to a practical application within the technological arts.

MPEP 2106.II.A

A process that consists solely of the manipulation of an abstract idea is not concrete or tangible. See In re Warmerdam, 33 F.3d 1354, 1360, 31 USPQ2d 1754, 1759 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Claims 1 and 12 in view of the above cited MPEP sections, are not statutory because they merely recite a number of computing steps without producing any tangible result and/or being limited to a practical application within the technological arts. The use of a computer has not been indicated.

These claims do not indicate use of hardware on which the software runs to perform the steps recited in the body of the claim. Software or program can be stored on a medium and/or executed by a computer. In other words the software must be computer-readable. The use of a computer is not evident in the claim.

MPEP 2106.IV.B.1(a) refers to "computer-readable" medium with computer program encoded on it."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1, 4 – 12, and 14 - 27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S Patent 6,577,907 issued to Joseph Stanley Czyszczewski et al. (hereinafter "Czyszczewski").

Regarding claim 1, Czyszczewski teaches a method for providing access from a multifunction device to an electronic document at a user-specified remote storage device (see column 6, lines 53 – 57 and column 7, lines 12 – 16: Czyszczewski discloses accessing multifunction device and documents in electronic format; see also Abstract), comprising:

identifying said user-specified remote storage device having said electronic document based at least in part on a path thereto specified by a user at said multifunction device (see column 3, lines 11 – 17: Czyszczewski discloses remote storage or databases that implements the current invention).

establishing a link between said multifunction device and a user-specified remote storage device having said electronic document (see Fig. 3 and column 3, lines 15 – 20: the connection between the multifunction device and the remote data-store or databases is through common networking interfaces such as Internet or LAN); and accessing said electronic document at said user-specified remote storage device from said multifunction device over said link established therebetween (see column 3, lines 50 – 51 and column 6, lines 55 –56: Czyszczewski disclose accessing remote datastores and the datastores contain among other,, the electronic document); and sending said electronic document from said multifunction device (see column 7, lines 19 – 23: the user operates the multifunction device to send the document to the selected destination).

Regarding claim 4, Czyszczewski teaches identifying said user-specified remote storage device is based at least in part on a user profile (see column 3, lines 50 – 55).

Regarding claim 5, Czyszczewski teaches converting a document to electronic format at said multifunction device (see column 6, lines 53 - 59); and combining said document in electronic format with said electronic document from said user-specified remote storage device (see column 10, lines 59 – 60).

Regarding claim 6, Czyszczewski teaches combining said electronic document from said user-specified remote storage device with an electronic document generated at said multifunction device (see column 10, lines 48 - 609); and sending said combined electronic documents from said multifunction device to a network destination (see column 7, lines 62 – 65 and column 12, lines 25 – 27).

Regarding claim 7, Czyszczewski teaches accessing an address book operatively associated with said user-specified remote storage device (see column 12, lines 8 – 14).

Regarding claim 8, Czyszczewski teaches identifying a network destination for an electronic document generated at said multifunction device based on data from said address book (see column 14, lines 14 – 20).

Regarding claim 9, Czyszczewski teaches editing an entry in said address book operatively associated with said user-specified remote storage device from said multifunction device (see column 10, 59 - 60).

Regarding claim 10, Czyszczewski teaches configuring said multifunction device before identifying said user-specified remote storage device (see column 3, lines 56 – 60).

Regarding claims 11 and 20, Czyszczewski teaches displaying at least a portion of electronic document from said user-specified remote storage device at said multifunction device (see column 10, lines 21 - 24).

Regarding claim 12, Czyszczewski teaches a method for accessing user-requested data from a configured multifunction device (column 7, lines 12 – 16: Czyszczewski discloses accessing multifunction device and documents in electronic format; see also Abstract), comprising:

identifying a remote storage device having a user-requested document based at least in part on a path for said remote storage device specified by a user at said configured multifunction device (see column 3, lines 11 – 17: Czyszczewski discloses remote storage or databases that implements the current invention).

retrieving said user-requested document from said configured multifunction device (see column 10, lines 21 – 27: (see column 3, lines 11 – 17: Czyszczewski discloses retrieving documents from remote storage using multifunction device).

Regarding claim 14, Czyszczewski teaches identifying said remote storage device is based at least in part on a user profile (see column 3, lines 50 – 55).

computer-readable media operatively associated with said multifunction device and having computer-readable program code thereon including program code for identifying data operatively associated with a user-specified remote storage device (see column 9, line 60 – column 10, line 3); and program code for accessing said data operatively associated with said user-specified remote storage device from said multifunction device (see column 10, lines 21
- 26).

Regarding claim 22, Czyszczewski teaches said data is an address book (see column 12, lines 8 – 14).

Regarding claim 23, Czyszczewski teaches program code for retrieving an entry from said address book, said entry identifying a network destination (see column 12, lines 8 – 23);

program code for associating said entry from said address book with an electronic document at said multifunction device (see column 7, lines 14 – 26); and program code for sending said electronic document to said network destination identified by said entry from said address book (see column 7, lines 16 – 22).

Regarding claim 24, Czyszczewski teaches said data is a document in electronic format (see column 2, lines 65 – 67).

Art Unit: 2162
